

WESTERLY HEARS OF CAPTURE

William Mulvey, Hopkinton Farm Hand, Comes Back to Rob
And is Caught—Stone Masons' and Laborers' Demands
Granted—First Solemn High Mass of Rev. Frank Donovan Largely Attended.

William Mulvey, the farmhand who appeared on the Charles and Kenyon farm in Hopkinton last week, taking with him a valuable watch and a small amount of cash, evidently encouraged by his successful getaway, had the nerve to come back to the Kenyon place Saturday morning and was captured after an exciting chase. Mulvey had a thorough knowledge of the Kenyon place, and without difficulty entered the house in the early morning and pilfered a pan of baked beans and a loaf of bread. Before he was able to get away he was detected by Halsey Kenyon, a son of Charles. Halsey, grappled with Mulvey, but was unable to hold him. Mulvey started on his way down the road and Halsey soon was convinced that he was outfooted by Mulvey. Halsey hurried to the house and mounted a horse and then went after Mulvey in true moving picture wild west style. Mulvey was held up and delivered to Constable Charles P. McDermott and given an automobile ride to the Western police station.

Mulvey was arraigned Saturday afternoon before Judge Oliver H. Williams in the Third district court and pleaded guilty to the theft of the watch. He was sentenced to 11 months in the Providence county jail and to pay all costs. The prisoner was committed by Constable McDermott, the trip to Providence being made in the Constable's automobile, Halsey Kenyon accompanying. Mulvey said he sold the watch in a Providence pawnshop.

The stone masons of Westerly, that is, the union masons, will begin work today on the new wage schedule of $4.00 a day, an advance from $3.50. Although this liberal concession was granted by the employers a week ago, work was not generally resumed owing to the strike of the 200 members of the laborers' union. Like the masons, the laborers succeeded in their strike, and the employers yielded to the demand for 25 cents an hour or a minimum wage of $2 a day on an eight-hour schedule, an advance from $1.50 for an eight-hour day. This agreement was reached Saturday morning, but there was difficulty in getting to terms as to the length of time that the agreement would be in force. The employers insisted on a five years agreement, but the laborers held out for the three years agreement, and went out. Just at the present time there is plenty of work for this class of labor at Watch Hill and Pleasant View, work that should be completed before the closing of the present season. Most of this work was started before the strike and it was given out that it must be completed without regard to cost.

One of the contractors said that the high cost of labor would be apt to lessen the building and change the style in this section and, he believed, would result in concrete work taking the place of granite in much of the construction work. He added that masons would not be called to work under the new schedule only when there was strictly mason work to be done and then not until the mason was actually required and would be laid off just as quick as the job was completed.

The church of the Immaculate Conception was filled at the high mass Easter Sunday, the Rev. Frank Donovan, who was ordained last Monday in the cathedral of the Immaculate Conception in Kansas City, Mo. The sermon was by Rev. Thomas C. O'Brien of Providence. Special Easter music was rendered by the excellent choir of trained voices. Father Donovan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Donovan and Father O'Brien is son of Michael O'Brien. They are the only members of the parish of the Immaculate Conception to be ordained priests. After a brief visit with his parents, Father Donovan will return to the Kansas City diocese and will be given an assignment by Bishop Tallis.

There were many knighthoods and several other gentlemen and a large assemblage of ladies in Masonic hall Sunday afternoon at the annual Easter service held by the Narragansett commandery, Knights Templar. The sir knights were in full dress uniform and made an imposing appearance. There were instrumental and vocal selections by the Maxson trio of Westerly and by the Laurel quartet of Providence. The annual address was delivered by Rev. Samuel H. Davis, a member of Narragansett commandery.

DANDRUFF COVERED COAT COLLAR

Scalp Itched and Burned Intensely.
Hair Dry and Thin. Kept Falling Out. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment Entirely Cured.

54 Stanwood St., Dorchester, Mass.—
"For the past few years my scalp was very much affected with dandruff. It would itch and burn and cause loss of sleep. I found simple and many sores appearing on my scalp. The itching and burning of the scalp were so intense that I scratched and thereby caused the sores to appear. My hair would be dry and thin and would keep falling out gradually, mainly coming out from the top of my head. My coat collar would always be covered with dandruff and as it scaled off it could be seen plainly in my hair."
"I tried many remedies but without success. The trouble having lasted for about five years I finally purchased a box of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The first application of Cuticura Soap and Ointment showed results. The itching stopped and the dandruff had begun to disappear. After washing my head with Cuticura Soap each night for two months and then applying the Cuticura Ointment after my hair was dried I was entirely cured." (Signed) Bernard Brooks, May 17, 1913.

For more than a generation Cuticura Soap and Ointment have afforded the most economical treatment for affections of the skin and scalp such as itching, dandruff, and dryness. Sold everywhere. Sample of each mailed free with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

WILLIMANTIC

John J. Youngs Waiting for Auto Marker, So Used Home-made One.

John J. Youngs, a soda manufacturer of North Windham, was taken to the police station Saturday afternoon, charged with a violation of the automobile law, in that he had on his machine a pasteboard card instead of the regulation marker. Mr. Youngs explained to Chief Richmond that he had applied for registration, and had received his papers, but not the number plate. The chief followed his usual course in such cases, and told Mr. Youngs that his explanation must be made to the court Monday morning, as in the case of a violation of the law the judge was the only one who could accept an excuse.
